The nomination is the Institution's opportunity to highlight what makes the nominee unique. This is the primary purpose of the letter. It should be emphasized in the letter. It should give the requirements – outline how the nominee is exceptional and how the student (e.g., what kind of benefits or advantages the student brings) are emphasized in the letter. It should give the points:

- Highlight the factors used to determine why the student is deserving of a Vanier CGS. Clearly articulate the excellence of the candidate according to the three selection criteria: Academic Excellence, Research Potential and Leadership \(potential and demonstrated ability\). Ensure that the letters focus on leadership potential and demonstrated abilities.
- Highlight the candidate's achievements
- 2. Research training environment:

Elaborate on the funding, facilities/resources and personnel that will be made available to support the candidate as they carry out their proposed research and develop their leadership potential.
 - Discuss how the research interests/background of the student and supervisor align with the institution's priorities. (Ensure that claims about the uniqueness of the research environment are accurate.)
 - Elaborate on your institution's resources regarding any established research-related policies and protocols (e.g., OCAP® for First Nations or any established protocols by Inuit and Métis Peoples of Canada; approvals for research involving the use of humans, animals or biohazards).
 - In the case of applications in which the proposed research respectfully involves and engages Indigenous communities, describe how relationships are being developed with relevant Indigenous communities to engage their collaboration in the proposed research and to promote reciprocity in terms of the benefits derived from the research process and outcomes. Describe any support provided to facilitate collaborations between the applicant, the host institution and Indigenous communities/partners.
