The following master's programs have a minimum residence requirement of one full-time term

Note: The master's degree must have been awarded before initial registration in the doctoral program; otherwise, the admission will be at Ph.D. 1 and residency will be extended to three years. Once the offer of admission is approved, it will not be changed after obtaining the master's degree if the date is after registration in the program. If a previously awarded degree is a condition of admission, it must be fulfilled before registration in another program.

As a rule, no more than one-third of the McGill program formal courses can be credited with courses from another university.

Comprehensive Examinations - Doctoral

A comprehensive examination or its equivalent is usually held near the end of Ph.D. 1. The results of this examination determine whether or not students will be permitted to continue in their programs.

See www.mcgill.ca/gadapplicants/apply/prepare/requirements/international-grade-equivalency for information on grade equivalencies and degree requirements from countries in Europe and around the world. These equivalencies and requirements are provided for information only and are subject to change without notice.

Admission to graduate programs at McGill is highly competitive and the final decision rests with the Graduate Admissions Committee. Admission decisions are not subject to appeal or reconsideration.
